

Sanjay Brahmawar

Board Member

Mr. Sanjay Brahmawar is a distinguished technology executive with over two decades of international experience in software, manufacturing, and the Internet of Things. He currently serves as the Chief Executive Officer of QAD, a leading provider of cloud-based solutions for manufacturers and supply chains.

Prior to joining QAD, Mr. Brahmawar was the CEO of Software AG, where he led a strategic transformation that evolved the company into a modern growth business. Under his leadership, Software AG enhanced its reputation for product leadership, built a customer-centric go-to-market organization, and refined its offerings through high-quality mergers and acquisitions.

Earlier in his career, Mr. Brahmawar held several senior positions at IBM, including General Manager for Global Revenue at Watson IoT. His extensive experience also includes leadership roles at PwC, FedEx, DSM, and Honda.

Mr. Brahmawar holds a bachelor's degree in civil engineering from Delhi College of Engineering and an M.B.A. in Finance and Marketing from the University of Leeds. A global citizen, he was born in India and has lived and worked in England, Finland, Belgium, the Netherlands, and Germany.

In addition to his role at QAD, he is a Trustee of the Frankfurt School of Finance and Management and serves as a Member of the Advisory Board at ADAMOS.

Mr. Brahmawar was appointed as a member of the HERE Supervisory Board on January 1, 2023.